

switch statement:

The switch statement in java language is used to execute the code from multiple conditions or cases. It is same like if else-if ladder statement.

A switch statement work with byte, short, char and int primitive data type, it also works with enumerated types and string.

Note: In switch statement default is optional but when we use this in switch default is executed at last whenever all cases are not satisfied the condition.